EUROPEAN NEWS NOTES.

LONDON, Dec. 1. The Pope has been quite an interested spectator of the ceremonies at Rome this week as New York, Washington and London. Many Americans here went to Rome to catch a glimpse of the three prelates whom the Pope has honored with the red hat and yesterday was a gala day in the Roman capital. Although the most important ceremony of all the private consistory at which the three American cardinals—Cicognate were made full cardinals—was witnessed by the church's ecclat, Cardinals Falconio, Farley and O'Connell have been feted and dined more than any other of the churchmen who received the red hat. It is said that His Holiness has taken this means of refuting the oft-repeated stories that he is not fond of America or Americans.

The great White Star liner Olympic sailed for the United States on Wednesday last, making her first trip since last September when she was rammed by the British cruiser Hawke. The suit which the Olympic owners have started against the government is proving a merry one, as officers and members of the crew are not anxious to be blamed for any fault of their own in case the government should lose the decision. The Olympic meanwhile has been thoroughly overhauled and is expected to do something along the line of speed. Formerly her greatest claim to fame were her size and the luxuriousness of her fittings.

The unemployed in Leicester, England, being dissatisfied with the operations of the local labor exchange, have returned their registration cards and decided to form an Unemployed Labor Association.

Graphers has been organized in Pittsburgh, Pa. Its objects are to increase efficiency and standardize power and promote the general welfare of its members. The union is to include both sexes.

The second week of Commercial Vehicle Section of the Chicago Show, will be considerably larger than last February, filling the armory. In addition to the Coliseum and Annex Fifty-eight manufacturers of trucks and delivery wagons, motor tire apparatus and other special forms of municipal and work vehicles have taken space, so that much remains to be assigned to late applicants. The prospects are that there will be considerable waiting on the list for this section and that some who fail to get in their applications early will be disappointed. The only unassigned floor space is on the main floor of the armory.

What is the main difference between a porter house steak and a pork chop?

The Size.

There is nothing like a Porter-house, or Sirloin if you choose. A cut or Flank or slice of round, to drive away the blues.

There's nothing like a tender chop of veal, mutton pork or lamb, to make you say, when stowed away, "Quite satisfied, I am" buy them here.
